The Five Practices: Lessons Learned and Potential Benefits..... 123

Lessons Learned..... 123

Lesson 1: High-level, cognitively demanding tasks are a necessary condition for productive discussions..... 123

Lesson 2: If all students solve a challenging task the same way, lesson reflection can provide clues as to why this may have occurred. .... 125

Lesson 3: Students need time to think independently before working in groups. .... 126

Lesson 4: The goals for the lesson should drive the teacher’s selection of responses to share during a whole-group discussion ..... 127

Lesson 5: If you leave students with advancing questions to pursue-you need to follow up with them to see what progress they made..... 128

Lesson 6: A monitoring chart is an essential tool in orchestrating a productive discussion. .... 129
