

Acknowledgment

At times, manuscripts are submitted that present possible conflicts of interest for the editorial team or for the Editorial Panel. On those occasions, we invite a guest editor (usually a former JRME Editor) to manage the editorial process. Their work helps preserve the integrity and quality of the journal while assuring authors that their manuscripts will be reviewed fairly. The editorial team is grateful to the following individuals who have served as guest editors for manuscripts submitted to the journal in 2014.

Maria Blanton
M. Kathleen Heid
Anderson Norton
J. Michael Shaughnessy
Edward Silver
Steven Williams

To recognize the scholarship of reviewing, we have identified a select number of reviewers who have produced particularly high-quality reviews. High-quality reviews are essential for the production of a top-tier journal, and the highest quality reviews are those that are useful for both evaluative and educative purposes. They identify critical strengths and weaknesses of manuscripts, provide insightful guidance for improving manuscripts, and communicate in a timely fashion and in an appropriate and professional tone. We appreciate all those who have produced such reviews and have identified reviewers who have produced outstanding reviews for more than one manuscript submitted to JRME during 2014. The JRME Outstanding Reviewers for 2014 are:

Dan Battey, Rutgers University
Meixia Ding, Temple University
R. Scott Eberle, SIM Niger
Eirini Geraniou, University of London
Sarah Kate Selling, University of Michigan–Ann Arbor

We thank the following people who reviewed manuscripts submitted to the journal in 2014. Through their thoughtful, expert critiques, our reviewers contribute not only to the quality of the manuscripts published but also to the development of the profession.
