Rivera!!!
00:23:34 Angela Boratko: Hi Shelly! Georgina fan club here from Hartford too!
:) So excited to here from Coach Rivera!
00:24:16 Taji Williams: Hello....in Tennessee.
00:25:04 Mike Jordahl: Greetings from Minnesota!
00:26:40 Kirsten Bohl: The Hobbit, JRR Tolkien. A complete fantasy world.
00:26:51 Michele Burgess: Green Eggs and Ham
00:26:52 Lisa Hawley: Too many to choose!
00:26:53 Christine Craddock: 10 in the bed .. all the stuffed animals

came to life

00:26:54 Margaret Dreier: Little Women -- I couldn't put it down.
00:26:59 Mike Jordahl: Where the Wild Things Are- Maurice Sendak It allowed the reader to imagine.
00:27:07 Latrenda Knighten: Beverly Cleary books
00:27:08 Margaret Dreier: The Phantom Tollbooth -- adventure, math and words
00:27:09 Daisy Orellana: Amelia Bedelia - She was so silly!
00:27:09 Jenifer Hooten: Velveteen Rabbit - a treasured friend; also loved
Where the Wild Things Are!
00:27:10 Erik Amundson: Sideways Stories from Wayside Schools, cause there was a student that ended up being a dead rat under a bunch of coats 00:27:15 Steven Leinwand: I loved Dr Seuss. It was silly, fun yet profound.
00:27:17 Leslie Fehr: So hard to choose just one! +1 on Beverly Cleary and Tolkien
00:27:17 Angela Boratko: Matilda - (always wanted to be a teacher like Ms Honey!)
00:27:18 Julia Darcy: Tikkk Tikki Tembo- my dad made it come alive through reading it with expression and I begged for him to read it every night.
00:27:18 Taji Williams: I read a short biography on Mary McCleod Bethune.
She was an educator.
00:27:19 Shelly Jones: The Snowy Day - simple and I liked the character
00:27:20 Deanna McKinley: Boxcar Children
00:27:21 Ashley Byrne: The BFG, I had a second grade student teacher read
it aloud to us
00:27:21 Briana Bernabucci: Corduroy
00:27:22 Shelly Thorpe: Little Women
00:27:22 Jacqueline Palmquist: Red Fish Blue Fish

and patience.
00:27:38 Jacqueline Palmquist: Judy Bloom
00:27:38 Jennifer Jones: Oh, my, great Q! Nancy Drake series :)
00:27:41 Kay Charles: I enjoyed books by Enid Blyton
00:27:43 Deanna McKinley: Judy Blume
00:27:44 Abigail Ildefonso: Magic Tree House! I loved the history aspect of it
00:27:45 Shelly Thorpe: Nancy Drew
00:27:48 Emily Kavanagh: The Giving Tree
00:27:53 Peyton Jones: Junie B. Jones
00:27:55 Leslie Fehr: and ...of course Harry Potter
00:28:01 Leah Baron: Panda Bear's Secret because I shared this story with my mom and it was about celebrating someone special.
00:28:01 Haidee Rosete: Nancy Drew series

00:28:07 debra queen: Nancy Drew
 00:28:36 Jennifer Jones: Duh! Yes, it was Drew not Drake. TY :)
 00:28:46 Kirsten Bohl: #3

 00:29:24 Erik Amundson: 1
 00:29:43 Sittie Ainah Cali Basher: 3
 00:33:03 Trena Wilkerson: Made it!
 00:35:27 Chonda Long:
<https://docs.google.com/document/d/1Wk7MNzYSuQ2zNHwhlaNad34FneGMZOvDzx827HxJEg/edit>
 00:46:08 Shelly Jones: Yes! To be seen is important for children. Yes! It goes beyond the books - but can start with one.
 00:46:43 Susan OConnell: I love the idea of students creating characters they'd like to see in books!
 00:47:14 Kirsten Bohl: the excitement of kids seeing themselves as authors: creating a character (and why...)
 00:47:18 Shelly Jones: When the boy said he was brilliant. I like that.
 00:47:20 Mike Jordahl: Embrace all of the beautiful cultures and customs!
 00:47:21 Jill Moore: Helping the students realize their importance.

00:47:21 Katelyn Dilley: They were able to appreciate cultures different from their own.
00:47:24 Steven Leinwand: Incredible power of kids seeing themselves in the books.
00:47:26 Julia Darcy: "We need to create alliances across differences"

So powerful to hear students create characters they'd want to see in books

00:47:29 Latrenda Knighten: I agree with Susan - I found it very powerful that the students were able to create their own characters!
00:47:37 Susan OConnell: They get so excited to see connections to their lives!
00:47:41 Joanna Smith: It is important that they can relate to the story and the characters
00:47:50 Kay Charles: Books were empowering students. Reflections of themselves.
00:47:53 Tania Palmieri: Students want to be seen in books and they want to learn about other cultures through literature
00:48:01 Leah Baron: It is so powerful to give students the opportunity to create a character. You can learn so much about your students from this. It gives students a voice and it's a window into their world. They can learn about each other.
00:48:01 Sittie Ainah Cali Basher: Understanding others characters in the books
00:48:14 Jennifer Shammas: identify with characters
00:49:10 Susan OConnell: And their books could be featured in the classrooms or media centers!
00:49:25 Katelyn Dilley: Love it! 😊
00:53:49 Kirsten Bohl: I love -- graphing on the floor :)
00:54:22 Dr. Maria Franshaw: So personal and so powerful
00:54:46 Jennifer Jones: Alma's in our class data, that's sweet!
00:56:00 Jennifer Jones: this is where the engagement is, math and me!
00:58:05 Chonda Long:
<https://padlet.com/georginarivera123/2ygfo12jusaomm7s>
01:00:07 Susan OConnell: And there are places for you to "like" a book or add comments if you use it with your students!
01:00:07 Mike Jordahl: This padlet is amazing! Thanks for sharing!
01:00:52 Jennifer Jones: TY, great Padlet!
01:01:28 Dr. Maria Franshaw: Wonderful resource, thank you
01:01:28 Chonda Long:

01:02:28 Shelly Jones: This is awesome @Gina and @Sue! Wow, I love it!!!
01:02:47 Kevin Dykema: This is such an incredible resource- thanks for sharing it with us!
01:03:02 Susan OConnell: Be sure to use this as an interactive tool and "like" or leave your comments if you use a book with your math students.
01:03:09 Shelly Thorpe: I teach high school learners. Can you recommend a similar resource for that age group?
01:03:26 Mike Jordahl: May we share this padlet with others?
01:03:42 Susan OConnell: Share with anyone!
01:04:10 Kevin Dykema: Yes they do- middle schoolers love to be read to!

01:04:16 Joanna Smith: I saw under the topic Disability, that they lead you to books recommended for Elementary, Middle, High School

01:05:18 Lisa Hawley: Someone pointed out to me that adults love to be read to as well (audio books)

01:05:31 Sittie Ainah Cali Basher: Thanks for the padlet 🤗

01:06:14 Kirsten Bohl: Thank you for community-sourcing & curating this resource!

01:06:43 Susan OConnell: Yes, let's grow it!

01:07:31 Steve Bloom: Explore the ever growing collection of Math & Lit read-a-louds available on the web

01:16:20 Erik Amundson: My CGI based approach currently draws directly from my students experiences/identities. I will begin utilizing stories to do the same, and hopefully inspire my 4th graders to create their own stories with open-ended/multi-entry tasks that connect.
