00:47:40 Lybrya Kebreab: Not. at. all. Haha
00:47:42 Genesis Docena: west coast and great northeast
00:47:52 Melissa Luzano: Plot twist
00:48:06 Pam Cadena: I'm with you @Genesis
00:48:07 Dave Hankin: Notice, the rest of the world isn't included...
00:48:24 Jill Weiss: I identify with a region in which I grew up and the region in which I live now! @dave - interesting.
00:48:38 Dave Hankin: We need to open our minds to where people connect from..
00:48:38 Zorica Lloyd: Well the rest of the world is "other". Which is interesting.
00:48:44 Melissa Luzano: US Territories like Guam are almost never included in the US
00:48:45 Denise Walston: southwest
00:49:28 Rachell Scott: AWESOME!!! Thoughts!
00:49:32 Carol Matsumoto: Just joining from NCTM MARC meeting
00:49:44 Lybrya Kebreab: Notice...Wonder...Feel...Act...
00:49:44 Sarah Bush: Hi Carol!
00:49:48 Linda Koval: I never saw the maps shown like this before.
00:49:54 Justin McClain: I love considering a world view. It is inspiring and fun!
00:51:42 JoAnn Santiago: Well said!
00:51:43 George Condance: amen
00:51:43 Vangela Eleazer: Awesome point!
00:51:44 Melissa Luzano: Not the dash in the middle
00:51:45 Danielle Bentley: "Not the dash in the middle!" Thank you!
00:51:50 Angelita Beltran: Love that!!
00:51:56 Lory Martinez: :)
00:52:07 Taryn Brown: That's POWERFUL!!
00:52:22 George Roy: "You can be 100% both." Yes 00:52:22 Kristin Harbour: Powerful message, Farshid! "Not the dash in the middle"
00:52:29 Jennifer Jones: Mercator vs Peterson maps
00:52:30 harry holloway: hum. Not sure I can see that 00:53:00 Lybrya Kebreab: GREAT BOOKS!!!
00:53:12 Jennifer Jones: That's Peters map 00:53:31 Nicole Campbell: I love it..."I am not the dash in the middle"...yes!
00:53:42 Danielle Grenader: Just finished "Reimagining the Mathematics Classroom" and loved it!!!
00:53:57 Trena Wilkerson: It is a journey! A learning, growing, exciting journey that we take together.

00:54:04 Cindy Bryant: Gateway to grow for sure!

00:54:09 Danielle Bentley: "A gateway to grow!" Wow! Thank you!

00:54:12 Milagros Carbonera: we tend to learn more by interacting with different people of different customs traditions and culture

00:54:15 Justin McClain: I hate boxes/cubbyholes. Individuals cannot be marked by only one label. A person is complex, and many aspects or factors create his or her identity.

00:54:36 Denise Walston: same here- with Dr Su's work. Loved it!

00:54:45 Linda Koval: I agree with you, Justin.

00:54:46 Cathery Yeh: Thanks Farshid! Honored!

00:54:49 Danielle Bentley: Wow! Great thoughts!

00:54:58 Emily Kavanagh: Yes absolutely

00:54:59 harry holloway: state tests.....

00:55:05 Beth Kobett: Love @Cathery!

00:55:28 Dave Hankin: I agree...This is due to the overemphasis on state testing.

00:55:29 Laura Bowsher: love this

00:55:34 Justin McClain: Yes @harry Holloway -- it is unfortunate

00:55:37 harry holloway: Mathematics needs to be real, yet the state tests tend to make it hollow

00:55:40 Denise Walston: focusing on pace rather than depth is problematic. we loose so many students with pace.

00:55:40 Analine Bautista: inclusivity

00:55:42 JoAnn Santiago: we need to make connections

00:55:42 Carly Adams: it's unfortunate

00:55:46 Stephenia Courtney: depth is often missing

00:56:04 Palmer Shim'on: the voice of the Black and Brown community as Economist are missing

00:56:05 De Zhang: It is hard to balance pace and depth

00:56:23 harry holloway: depth is not needed for state curruculum.

00:56:24 Dave Hankin: There is such an emphasis on "data" to evaluate rather than real learning.

00:56:26 Ronald Lubatti: to cover all of common core areas, pace is a driver

00:56:26 Linda Koval: My students can pass the state testing, but they don't really know the math!

00:56:32 Denise Walston: more socially just practices

00:57:08 Stephenia Courtney: depth IS needed for true understanding and ownership

00:57:13 DeAnn Huinker: @Linda: Your statement about testing is so sad, and makes a sad statement about education today.

00:57:14 Dawn Lopez: powerful slide

00:57:16 Denise Walston: racism predates 1526

00:57:17 Lybrya Kebreab: We owe each other justice!!

00:57:22 Mark Phipps: add in indigenous peoples as well

00:57:35 Shashidhar Belbase: Social justice issues in mathematics education, that connects living with being.

00:57:49 Rakitia Delk: Yes, I'm tired of granola bars and cookies...and pizza!

00:58:09 Andrew Geller: such a great graphic

00:58:10 Lory Martinez: :D haha
00:58:26 Lybrya Kebreab: Open circle is invitation for others to join...nice!
00:58:52 Vada: I like that idea of inviting others to join.
00:58:54 Lybrya Kebreab: Belonging so key to mathematics instruction
00:59:04 Lory Martinez: I agree!
00:59:24 Justin McClain: It's amazing how many things affect learning. It is an honor to be a teacher!
00:59:32 Latonda Dillworth-Hudgen: Students unable to make connection to their identity. Yes!
00:59:33 Lybrya Kebreab: Team "at least" over here
00:59:34 George Condance: triangular pen
00:59:37 Lybrya Kebreab: Hehe
00:59:39 Genesis Docena: I love the trapezoid definition conversation
00:59:44 Dave Hankin: I'd like to see better treatment of all people in many foreign countries as well where human rights are often restricted by government or cultural ways.
00:59:49 harry holloway: interesting how of students think exclusively.
01:01:08 Ashley Edwards: I would like to see better treatment of African Americans in the USA.
01:01:15 Dave Hankin: including the treatment of women and other minorities
01:01:23 Nyla Moore-McCreary: Hello from Tacoma, WA
01:01:27 Dave Hankin: Ashley - Agreed
01:01:28 Ed Nolan: So important to connect identity, inclusiveness, and mathematics.
01:01:36 Melissa Luzano: Yes @Ashley
01:01:45 harry holloway: What does marginalization mean? Since I am a white male there are times I feel marginalized because my view does not count since I supposedly can
01:01:47 Justin McClain: yes @ed
01:01:59 Ashley Edwards: I am pro equality for all.
01:02:56 Milagros Carbonera: Students internalize the concepts they are being introduced of when they can make connections between the concepts they are learning with the real-life situations.
01:03:02 JoAnn Santiago: So true
01:03:13 Bishnu Khanal: Right!
01:03:43 Sonia Villegas-Gonzalez: ELLs many times are marginalized because of the language.
01:03:45 JoAnn Santiago: thank you
01:03:51 Pam Cadena: Fantastic point about language
01:03:52 LaTasha Collins: So true
01:04:00 George Condance: good focus to investigate
01:04:28 Ashley Edwards: as an ELL teacher I see the disparities the students face each day
01:04:29 RACHEL WHITE: So true.
01:04:53 Andrew Geller: tools like Google translate make it very easy to receive verbal knowledge from EL students
01:05:04 Erika Herman: History, true history should be taught
01:05:06 Lybrya Kebreab: We can leverage diversity from a strengths-based lens as a resource not a hindrance!

01:05:19 Rosalind Brown: Yes, I use translate in my math class
01:05:25 Ashley Edwards: agreed @ Lybrya
01:05:29 Lybrya Kebreab: We stand on the shoulders of those before us!
01:05:36 Andrew Geller: Nice Rosalind.
01:05:38 Lybrya Kebreab: Thanks @Ashley
01:05:39 harry holloway: I wish our state tests were in Spanish.....
01:05:44 Beth Kobett: Yes! @Lybrya!
01:05:56 Ashley Edwards: me too @harry
01:05:59 Lybrya Kebreab: Thanks @BethKobett
01:06:24 Stephenia Courtney: yes @ Lybrya!!!
01:06:37 Danielle Bentley: Alright!
01:06:38 Ashley Edwards: state tests are racially and culturally biased. 🗣️
01:06:49 Linda Koval: Some of the ELL students cannot read in Spanish, some of the testing needs to be done in Spanish read aloud.
01:06:53 Milagros Carbonera: Teachers gain the attention and focus of students when they feel the affection and care from the teacher
01:07:04 Danielle Bentley: I am with you!
01:07:10 Analine Bautista: heart-wrenching
01:07:12 harry holloway: yes they are! but then all tests with written content are biased
01:07:22 Melissa Luzano: OMG that systemic inequality part
01:07:24 Shashidhar Belbase: Nice to see... >>>>
01:07:29 Ashley Edwards: true @harry
01:07:38 Stephanie Goff: Yes, Milagros!
01:07:48 Vada: properties of systemic inequality!!!
01:07:50 George Condance: good point
01:07:59 RACHEL WHITE: Good point!
01:08:00 Linda Koval: So true!
01:08:06 Erika Herman: It has to be authentic, real care and concern
01:08:06 Margaret Blankinship: Diversity & Inclusion - wonderful thought
01:08:07 Lorie Huff: Great point
01:08:09 Amy Johnson: Powerful!
01:08:11 Rebecca Kirby: Powerful statement
01:08:19 Taryn Brown: Yes!!!I'm with Kris Childs!!
01:08:20 Jet Yeung: powerful
01:08:23 Laura Hope: too true
01:08:29 Stephanie Goff: Absolutely, Erika!
01:08:30 Camille Nemanic: Wow, what a powerful statement!

01:09:31 Raymundo Pecjo: Number larger than half

01:09:31 Sandra Bunns: the most of any group

01:09:35 Sonnia Villegas-Gonzalez: Also, sometimes if the student does not speak English, some entities think that they do not know mathematics, or can not do mathematics.

01:09:37 Dave Hankin: Nancy, you can turn it off.

01:09:38 Iris Furomoto: The most number

01:09:49 Linda Koval: 5 is majority

01:09:50 harry holloway: yes, our school has not majority only a pluaraltiy

01:09:52 Isidora Bell: 5-4

01:10:02 hoang nguyen: most men

01:10:22 Debra Cowan: the group that dominate

01:10:25 harry holloway: marginalized again....

01:10:27 Melissa Luzano: Love that you just added this! It's super recent 01:10:36 Bonnie Basu: Who defines majority? Who has defined majority?

01:10:37 Andrew Geller: 51

01:10:42 Latonda Dillworth-Hudgen: Majority is the leading factor

01:10:52 Stephenia Courtney: Most non-African American

01:10:56 Carmelita Nalzarro: in a hundred majority means more than 50

01:10:57 Lybrya Kebreab: Context Matters (Dr. Gutierrez)

01:11:09 W Tad Johnston: From DC, the other two groups are not mine - DC Statehood needed!

01:11:20 Shashidhar Belbase: There is not a perfect majority....it is a technical term in a context.

01:11:49 Gail Dean: Never thought about how reps are affected in DC.

01:11:55 Laura Hope: peoples experience determines what they think is majoority

01:11:58 Rogelio Lapulapu: mathematical connections is quite crucial

01:12:14 George Condtance: true

01:12:16 Katy Harris: But FL fires the ones they have asked to modify the data.

01:12:21 Andrew Geller: there's some exponential growth

01:12:30 Raymundo Pecjo: how steep is the slope

01:12:30 Emily Kavanagh: Definitely growth

01:12:31 Sheila Kirton-Robbins: FL not doing well

01:12:31 Gina Velasco: is it the slope

01:12:32 Natasha Gambarov: mostly linear

01:12:38 harry holloway: But deaths are dropping...

01:12:44 Rachell Scott: exponential growth

01:12:45 Stephenia Courtney: unit rate

01:12:46 Eduardo Enjambre: there's maximum point.

01:12:49 Dana Rozman: It appears to be cubic, but will more-than-likely be quartic

01:12:58 Shashidhar Belbase: Look at the area between two graphs, that may be important.

01:13:01 Dave Hankin: not enough Harry.

01:13:02 Lybrya Kebreab: These are people...not points. :(

01:13:05 Rachell Scott: concave and convex

01:13:09 Carmelita Nalzarro: just like the result of the infections in COVID-19 the curve is so high 01:13:28 DaiTrang Phan: Florida is experiencing second wave of infection?

01:13:28 Nancy Downey: I cannot turn it off
01:13:34 Jennifer Wolfe: These are HUMANS!
01:13:43 harry holloway: there is no really enough data. imagine judging a teacher on there first 5 months
01:13:47 Dave Hankin: Nancy, click in the chat and it will stop.
01:13:48 Lybrya Kebreab: And the victim-blaming for so-call "comorbidities".
01:13:49 Sarah Bush: Yes, Florida is experiencing a second wave.
01:13:50 Palmer Shim'on: affect of majority NOT tested vs negative results in the curve
01:13:50 Nancy Downey: send your chats privatley please
01:13:51 Stephenia Courtney: comparing the two graphs and what each independently represents 01:13:56 Lybrya Kebreab: Agreed @Dr. Wolfe!!!
01:14:12 Victoria Negri: Agree
01:14:22 Andrew Geller: Ha! It's just like grad school.
01:14:29 harry holloway: context is everything!!! read a book called Behave

01:14:32 Laura Bowsher: yes, so important that we continue
01:14:52 Emily Kavanagh: Agreed
01:15:00 Nicole Campbell: Wow
01:15:12 Gail Dean: What about COVID in prisons and the graphs for those.
01:15:34 Ashley Edwards: excellent question @Gail
01:15:36 Shauna Brown: I love using real world problems in my classroom
01:15:38 Lybrya Kebreab: This is dope!
01:15:47 George Condtance: strong stuff
01:15:56 Andrew Geller: YES! Too few people know how to make sense of data.
01:16:06 harry holloway: I did some of this the last week we were together in march
01:16:14 Linda Koval: This is Data Science.
01:16:15 Ashley Edwards: @Shauna real world application enhances understanding and productivity
01:16:29 Lybrya Kebreab: Reminds me of Marian's blog asking if the dinner was planned with MY attendance in mind?
01:16:34 Stephenia Courtney: great conversations about how data can be skewed
01:16:41 Carmelita Nalzarro: Math is easy to understand once you relate it to real life and students appreciated it very much
01:16:45 Lory Martinez: so sad
01:16:47 Lybrya Kebreab: Or are you thinking about me after realizing I was left out.
01:16:53 Lybrya Kebreab: ?
01:16:53 Laura Hope: too few people know how to read and use real data and determine if it is correct
01:16:53 Gail Dean: Math is so useful in getting students to think about the future and thinking long term rather than sticking in the immediate time frame.
01:16:54 Jennifer Wolfe: Yes @Lybrya! Reminded my of Marian's blog too!
01:17:07 harry holloway: history of mathematics is often white washed. I love to teach that.
01:17:24 Shauna Brown: When I use real problems my students tend to have rich discussions

01:17:29 harry holloway: good book
01:17:32 Shashidhar Belbase: History is biased in several cases...
01:17:34 Justin McClain: everyone has value, and a voice at the table
01:17:34 Emily Kavanagh: Exactly
01:17:38 Gina Velasco: Yes math problems relate it to real life situation is easy to understand
01:17:40 Melissa Luzano: Maryam Mirzakhani <3
01:17:44 Palmer Shim'on: how true that we learn about Brilliant mathematician from a film: "The Queen and I"
01:17:44 Ashley Edwards: yes @ Shauna
01:18:14 Ashley Edwards: It makes learning more personalized @Shauna
01:18:24 Ashley Edwards: and purposeful @Shauna
01:18:31 Brian Dean: THE U-TURN ;-)
01:18:34 harry holloway: equal only applies to numeric values
01:19:13 Jennifer Lewicki: I agree!
01:19:24 Lybrya Kebreab: Geez. I miss going places
01:19:35 Laxman Nepal: great
01:19:44 Justin McClain: What does it mean to go somewhere? I forgot...
01:19:59 George Condance: long wait
01:20:08 Lory Martinez: Justin same haha
01:20:17 Eduardo Enjambre: interesting!
01:20:21 Erika Herman: From your room to the kitchen 01:20:39 Palmer Shim'on: yes, when at the airport and knowing that the elevator opens on an pois it side depending on the floor, the same as on an airport train
01:20:47 Lybrya Kebreab: I am so worried about all these "leaders" in edu calling for full return to F2F school. How are the children? Sad.
01:20:50 harry holloway: inaction.....
01:20:55 Sarah Bush: Love this statement Farshid!
01:20:58 Nicole Walden: I've been going a lot of places - the living room, the garage, the porch, the bedroom...
01:21:05 Lory Martinez: Yes Lybrya I am too!
01:21:09 David Barnes: Strong words!
01:21:13 Dave Hankin: It's what we do with that data that truly matters.
What good is it if it is ignored from those higher up?
01:21:14 W Tad Johnston: Planning to re-open a breakfast program - directionality of seating is said to make a huge difference for reducing spread 01:21:15 Lybrya Kebreab: Fancy @Nicole!!
01:21:26 harry holloway: aporionment
01:21:48 harry holloway: I have don the gerrymandering problems.
01:21:59 Ashley Edwards: this great information
01:22:00 Sarah Bush: Awww, thanks Farshid.
01:22:15 Stephenia Courtney: GREAT representations!!
01:22:21 Ashley Edwards: It is wonderful learning from all of you.
01:22:27 Rogelio Lapulapu: equal,equivalent,neither..a better light..
01:23:01 Ashley Edwards: As educators, we are changing the world, one student at a time.
01:23:03 Lybrya Kebreab: Who is helped/privileged by our edu decisions?
01:23:07 Lybrya Kebreab: Who is harmed?

01:23:20 Siddhi Desai: Thank you Dr. Safi! So fortunate to be able to continue to learn and work with both you and Dr. Bush!

01:23:28 Bonnie Basu: How can these types of tasks be written into our curriculum so it becomes easily accessible to all teachers and students?

01:23:30 Brian Dean: Thank you Farshid for growing my brain and heart tonight. You, my friend, amaze me.

01:23:41 Ashley Edwards: 👍

01:23:46 Sarah Bush: Great point Bonnie.

01:23:52 Lybrya Kebreab: @Bonnie EXCELLENT question.

01:23:53 Carly Adams: yes

01:23:55 Debbie Aldous: Well said Brian!

01:23:56 Nicole Walden: Fabulous diagrams

01:23:57 Rogelio Lapulapu: Great presentations! God bless everyone

01:24:00 David Barnes: @Lybrya - YES!

01:24:01 Erika Herman: Very inciteful

01:24:05 Lance Brauchla: Appreciate the insights!

01:24:17 Ashley Edwards: yes. very insightful

01:24:17 George Condance: they were great

01:24:20 Deborah Cantrell: Thought provoking!

01:24:27 Michele Hall: @Bonnie- These books are a good start- I used the Gerrymandering Lesson from the HS Math...Social Injustice book to update and modify my lesson.

01:24:30 Taryn Brown: This has been AMAZING Farshid. Thank you!!!

01:24:38 Robin Schwartz: excellent point Bonnie

01:24:40 Megan Riley: Thanks,

01:24:42 Lotalinda Castro-Anderson: I will definitely need to view this presentation again - there's a lot to unpack and process.

01:24:51 Raymundo Pecjo: What an awesome lecture. He connected between two or more things.

01:24:53 Bonnie Basu: Thank you @Michele. I will look into them.

01:24:55 Linda Koval: Thank you, Dr. Safi! This has been an eye-opening session.

01:24:56 Ashley Edwards: We are actively energized, engaged, and enabled.

01:24:56 Carly Adams: I agree

01:24:57 Robin Schwartz: thanks for this wonderufl presentation Farshid

01:25:10 Jennifer Jones: R. Gutstein, Reading and Writing the World with Mathematics

01:25:17 Stephenia Courtney: TY!! GREAT PRESENTATION.

01:25:24 Alexander Banihashemrad: افرين

01:25:27 Erika Herman: encouraging

01:25:29 RACHEL WHITE: Thank you. Excellent examples.

01:25:29 Bishnu Khanal: Insight to think differently

01:25:30 Lotalinda Castro-Anderson: I love all the examples that bring math alive in real life context in current events

01:25:31 Pamela Liegl: Dr Safi, thank you for a Very Insightful presentation. I loved the ideas shared with us.

01:25:39 Taryn Brown: Whewwww!!!

01:25:40 Juli Dixon: So powerful!

01:25:43 Eduardo Enjambre: In this way sticks to their mind forever

01:25:44 harry holloway: But people are not rational deductive reasoning is not a default

01:25:51 Ashley Edwards: I would love to stay in touch with you all

01:25:55 George Condance: the link to 5he certification?

01:25:59 Andrew Geller: I appreciate all the interesting connections you've made this hour Dr. Safi.

01:26:05 Marian Dingle: Empathy is not good enough. Yes.

01:26:11 Lybrya Kebreab: Start with ourselves. Very true. Examining our own biases is the beginning of the "work" towards justice!

01:26:12 Lesly Brown: Thank you for your time and the presentation. It assist in helping us to think in broader terms with more depth.

01:26:13 Ashley Edwards: I can learn a lot from you

01:26:14 Linda Koval: You need to do a 2 hour class instead of 1. Time flew and I feel that you still has so much to share with us.

01:26:24 Sarah Bush: Great job Farshid!!!

01:26:25 Ed Nolan: Actions always speak louder than words. So true!!!

01:26:26 Dawn James: The Pledge of Allegiance is a great place to begin.

01:26:28 Rebecca Keller: These are beautiful examples, thank you so much.
